Eastside gang members arrested

Riverside, CA -- Two members of the Eastside Riva criminal street gang (ESR) were arrested Friday night at a residence in the 4300-block of Victoria Avenue after an individual believed to be carrying and displaying a firearm was seen entering the premises by a Riverside Police officer passing by in an unmarked vehicle.

Riverside Police officers and members of the Police and Corrections Team (PACT) responded to the residence where approximately 15 persons were gathered. During a search of the residence in response to the reported weapon, officers discovered a shotgun and a sawed-off shotgun, as well as ammunition and various gang paraphernalia. The reported handgun was not located.

An adult male, Ryan Richard MURILLO, 18, and a 17-year-old juvenile male who reside at the location were arrested at the scene for possession of a sawed-off shotgun. Murillo is named as a member of the Eastside Riva gang in the District Attorney's recent gang injunction. The residence is inside the injunction area.
